FAIR OF UNUSUAL EXCELLENCE

Twenty-Eighth Annual Exhibition in Brattleboro Gives Promise of Being Record Breaker—List of Entries

Next Tuesday the 28th annual Valley fair will open on the fair grounds, and that means that it is time to make preparations to attend, not only that day, but the next two days, for the managers of this fair have secured for this year the best all-round exhibition of cattle, horses, sheep, swine and agricultural exhibits ever gathered on the grounds.

Spectacular and hazardous forms of entertainment have been dodged for this year. The usual horse races, with an unusually fine grade of entries in each, will be seen each day in the afternoon, and with the track in the condition that it has been put in and with fair weather the track record should be in danger, not only on one day, but on each of them.

Vandeville entertainment of an unusual class will be furnished twice each day, morning and afternoon, in full view of the grandstand. A polar bear stunt, in which six big animals perform unusual feats, will provide the animal act. An aerial act that can be seen from all parts of the grounds is another and the famous wagon acrobatic act that consists of a party of seven on a platform, the New York Hippodrome is scheduled to provide the stunts due to excessive laughter. It stands alone as a comedy acrobatic act.

Wednesday morning, the second day, is the date for the big decorated automobile parade, which starts from the common at 10 o'clock and moves to the fair grounds and around the track a full view of all on the grounds. This is in charge of A. B. Clapp and E. E. Mesher. Immediately after this will come the exhibition of driving and riding horses, including matched pairs.

Thursday is the day set for the exhibition of the prize winners in the various classes and when it is considered that in every class there is a large entry, it is not surprising that the fair becomes popular that this will be an exhibition well worth seeing. Here is just a part of what the entry list shows in some of the larger classes:

In heavy horses the Adirondack team of Glenn Falls, N. Y., enters 18 head of Percherons, Belgians, Cleveland and German coach horses; Carl Wood of Norfolk, Conn., enters a Morgan stallion; A. R. Morse, a Percheron stallion; Dexter Stone of Orange, Mass., several Percherons; George Bushway of Abington, N. H., a Percheron stallion; Mr. Belding of Swanzey, N. H., five Percherons; Roy L. Collins of Halifax, a Percheron mare and colt; H. R. C. Watson of Brandon, Vt., head of Morgans; C. W. Hamilton of Wilmington, a Morgan stallion with four of his get and a mare and colt; the Connecticut River Stock farm of Hatfield, Mass., a number of standardbred trotting horses.

For cattle, E. R. Andrews of Elmleigh farm, Putney, enters a herd of Jerseys, as do F. H. E. Stone and C. R. Briggs of Brattleboro; A. A. Hubbard of Chesterfield, N. H., and S. L. Goodell of Brattleboro have entered cattle in this class.

In the Shorthorn beef class E. A. Joloff of Mt. Vernon, Me., and C. B. Wade of Orangeville, O., have entered large herds, and in the dairy branch entries have been made by C. B. Wade of Orangeville, O., P. T. Barnard of Shelburne, Mass., and Fred C. Rand & son of Bellows Falls.

The Holsteins will be represented among others, with entries by George E. Wood of Townsend, Arthur L. Milson of Colrain, Mass., and the Mount Hermon school.

Ayrshires will be represented by herds of George H. Danmore of St. Albans and F. D. E. Stowe of Brattleboro; Jerseys by entries of S. C. Seymore of Ludden, Mass., and A. F. Jones of Winchester, N. H.; E. G. Fayette, Me., will show a large herd of Herefords, while one or more herds of Devons will be exhibited.

The sheep entries include some by F. D. & T. G. Hilton of Anson, Me.; Raymond D. Grice of Xenia, O., H. V. Marshall & Sons of Vergennes, Vt., L. C. Compton of North Charlestown, Swine will find representation, among others, with entries by R. N. Fairbank and Asael Dickinson's Sons of Ashuelot, N. H.

Oxen will be shown by H. H. & A. J. Dunfee of Brattleboro, R. C. Ingraham of Guilford, J. D. Avery of Charlestown, Mass., and Frank Lawrence of Townsend.

From the above, which is an incomplete list of some of the larger entries, it is easily apparent that the Valley fair has never had a greater variety of entries than this year.

The agricultural exhibit by the state agricultural association will be of wide interest to all visitors to the fair, and the agricultural building, the machinery building and the new "Made in Brattleboro" building, the latter containing specimens of goods manufactured in town, are other interesting features. The "Made in Brattleboro" exhibit being the first of its kind at the Valley fair.

The judging of the various classes will start promptly Tuesday morning. This and the drawing contest, with a concert by the First Regiment band and the Vandeville entertainment, constitute the program for the first morning. A cavalcade of all the entries of stock is a big feature of that afternoon's program and the first of the races, the 228 pace, 225 trot, the 216 pace stake, and the 217 trot stake, the first for a purse of $300 and the last two for purses of $500 each, come that afternoon.

The races for Wednesday afternoon are the 214 pace, stake for $500, the 220 pace for $300 and the 225 pace, stake for $500.

The races for the last day are the 224 trot, stake for $500; the 217 pace, 215 trot for $300 (substituted for the free-for-all), for which entries close tomorrow, and the 219 trot for $300.

The races are held in conjunction with the International circuit of Vermont and Eastern Canada and the Green Mountain circuit, and it is provided that races that are prevented by rain or other causes and cannot be called by 4 p. m. of the last day may be called off.

Following is the list of entries for the races for each day:

FINE PERFORMANCE BY FIREFLY COMPANY

Audience Greatly Pleased with Work of Miss Thayer and Supporting Cast and Chorus.

No more enjoyable performance has taken place in the Auditorium this season than that of the comedy opera The Firefly, given last evening by an Arthur Hammerstein company headed by Miss Edith Thayer. Those of the audience who had expected to see the piece presented by an average road company were agreeably disappointed. Miss Thayer herself proved to be a singer of remarkable ability, possessing a sweet and flexible soprano voice of wide range and unusual power. Her diminutive stature well suited the role in which she was cast and her work through the performance was wholly satisfying. Other members of the company were Maxfield Moore, who played the comedy role of Jenkins in a capital manner; Thomas Fair, who made an agreeable Geraldine; Burton Lovibond, Charles H. Bowers and Paul Veron in the principal male parts; and Alice Gaillard as Mrs. Vandare. The music of The Firefly contains many numbers whose strains have become familiar, but that fact did not interfere with the enjoyment of hearing them again. The most popular numbers were Miss Thayer's Love is Like a Firefly and When a Maid Knows at Year's End, the duet, Scampthy, by Mr. Bowers and Miss Fair, and the trio, De Trop. The work of the chorus was extremely good, and the costumes and stage settings were in keeping with the work of the company as a whole.
